A bride and a bridegroom were drowned together in Salt Lake last Sunday while out boat-riding. A squall came up and capsized the boat. Perhaps it were as well to go down together in a squall as to live together in a storm.

Governor Woodrow Wilson seems to have completely captured everybody in both North and South Carolina on his recent visit, and doubtless went back to New Jersey feeling pretty well assured that at least two States would be ready to hand him over the nomination in 1912.

A TRIP TO PENNSYLVANIA.

Mr. T. T. Hicks Writes Entertainingly of the Farming and Other Interests of the Key-Stone State.

To the Editor of the Gold Leaf. Last week I had occasion to spend six days at Lancaster, Pa. It saddened me. To tell my troubles to a policeman would do no good; so I will take the public into my confidence, and ask for its sympathy, that something good may Lancaster and Lancaster county are not as far from Henderson as is Cherokee county, North Carolina. The county seat is a town more than two hundred years old, containing now about 45,000 people. The county has 170,000 people though it has no other towns of any size. The people are, nearly all, of Ger man descent. The average size is not as large as our people. Everybody works up there, "father" and all. I was waked every morning at three o'clock by the milk and ice wagons and farmers' wagons. Of the farms! The dirt is nearly see Lewis & Joyner. The rocks are of a slaty color. Quarries and lime-kilns abound. Every little waters' edge and turns mills or is pondangles and fenced with wire on wildlocust-posts that last a long time. The tobacco grown is used for cigars.

The crop is sold at the barn door. It
